

Western Washington Medical Services Communications Application for Membership

Western Washington Medical Services Communications Team provides communications support to the health care facilities in much of western Washington. Members of the various regional or county Medical Services teams must be registered in their local jurisdiction as State Emergency Workers, under WAC 118.04. Local jurisdictions impose their own requirements on volunteer emergency workers. Due to the sensitive and secure nature of all health-care facilities and health information, many jurisdictions require applicants to undergo a basic criminal records check. There are also a certain number of required training elements related to working in a healthcare environment.
